

High Frequency Change

Recruitment in tomorrow's world

Tom Cheesewright, Applied Futurist @bookofthefuture tomcheesewright.com/tribepad

We live in an age of
high frequency change

Technology is life's lubricant

Success is defined by adaptation,
not optimisation

SEE EARLY | DECIDE QUICKLY | BUILD ADAPTABLY

2,302,439

Takeaways

We live in an age of High Frequency Change

Adaptation, not optimisation, is the route to sustainable success

For workers this means constant evolution (& parallel work)

For recruiters: fewer total employees but higher turnover, complexity, and value

Thanks

Go to tomcheesewright.com/tribepad

- Download this slide deck
- Download: “Ten questions for tomorrow”
- Information on courses & dates
- Subscribe to the newsletter
- Listen to the Podcast
- Connect on LinkedIn
- Follow: @bookofthefuture

Available 27th June. Pre-order on Amazon